

College of Social and Behavioral Sciences

Disclaimer: this does not necessarily contain every academic resource on campus. For additional resources and assistance, contact your academic advisor

American Indian Studies

Due to the small size of the program and small class sizes, students are encouraged to communicate directly with their professors or advisor when facing academic challenges in a course.

Opportunities- For the current list of opportunities for undergraduates, visit <https://ais.arizona.edu/opportunities-undergraduates>.

Anthropology

Due to the size of this department, there are no major specific resources offered. However, you are encouraged to reach out to your professor or advisor so they can help your particular situation.

Arabic

Due to the size of this department, there are no major specific resources offered. However, you are encouraged to reach out to your professor or advisor so they can help your particular situation.

Communication

Due to the size of this department, there are no major specific resources offered. However, you are encouraged to reach out to your professor or advisor so they can help your particular situation.

English

Due to the size of this department, there are no major specific resources offered. However, you are encouraged to reach out to your professor or advisor so they can help your particular situation.

Gender & Women's Studies

Due to the size of this department, there are no major specific resources offered. However, you are encouraged to reach out to your professor or advisor so they can help your particular situation.

School of Geography, Development & Environment

Due to the size of this department, there are no major specific resources offered. However, you are encouraged to reach out to your professor or advisor so they can help your particular situation.

School of Geography, Development & Environment

Due to the size of this department, there are no major specific resources offered. However, you are encouraged to reach out to your professor or advisor so they can help your particular situation.

School of Government and Public Policy

Student Workshops and Events- "We offer numerous opportunities for career development and networking with professionals. Be sure to register for any events you are interested in attending," according to their website. For an updated schedule, visit <https://sgpp.arizona.edu/student-workshops-events>.

Student Governance Board- "The School of Government and Public Policy has an Undergraduate Student Governance Board consisting of four students – one representative from each major. The purpose of the Student Governance Board is to represent all student constituencies and provide recommendations on the use of student program fees," according to their website. Visit <https://sgpp.arizona.edu/studentgovernance-board> for more info.

School of Government and Public Policy

Clubs and Organizations- Check out the variety of SGPP-specific clubs and organizations at <https://sgpp.arizona.edu/clubs-organizations>.

Funding Opportunities- Junior and Senior Law undergraduates can apply to various funding opportunities here: <https://sgpp.arizona.edu/studentfunding>

Scholarships- Find SGPP specific scholarship opportunities at <https://sgpp.arizona.edu/scholarships>

School of Government and Public Policy

SGPP Peer Mentors- "The SGPP Peer Mentors assist our freshmen and transfer students with the transition to the University of Arizona. They assist with new student orientation and transfer socials, plan events for SGPP students, and play a role in recruiting students from the local community colleges and high schools," according to their website. Visit <https://sgpp.arizona.edu/sgpp-peer-mentors> to find out how to contact the peer mentors or how to apply to be a peer mentor.

School of Government and Public Policy: Law Major Specific

Legal Writing Help- BA Law students can utilize the JD student-run Legal Writing Center's services. Information about their services and sign-up can be found here:
<https://arizonalawwritingcenter.arizona.edu/content/writing-center-services>.

Career Services- The BA Law program's own career services personnel to work with students on career goals. Students interested should reach out to Linus Kafka:
<https://law.arizona.edu/linus-kafka>.

History

Due to the size of this department, there are no major specific resources offered. However, you are encouraged to reach out to your professor or advisor so they can help your particular situation.

School of Information

In the iSchool when students struggle, they are asked to work with their class instructor to figure out the best course of action for their specific scenario.

Tutoring- Working on establishing tutoring help for some of core coursework, but at this time, nothing has been made official. Email downes@email.arizona.edu to learn more.

School of Journalism

Contact boykin1@arizona.edu directly to learn about the resources available in the School of Journalism.

Judaic Studies

Due to the size of this department, there are no major specific resources offered. However, you are encouraged to reach out to your professor or advisor so they can help your particular situation.

Latin American Studies

Due to the size of this department, there are no major specific resources offered. However, you are encouraged to reach out to your professor or advisor so they can help your particular situation.

Linguistics

UnderLing Club- The UnderLing Club is a student group with the primary goal of building up a community of undergraduate linguists and the secondary purpose of fostering curiosity and intellectual inquiry into the diverse field of linguistics as a whole for both linguistic majors and minors. We are to help create a community outside of the classroom that can have fun together and develop professionally together. We accomplish these goals with regular meetings, alternating between our OpenHouse days (community-building) and our LingCafe (casual professional development). For more, visit <https://arizona.campusgroups.com/club1019/home/>.

Mexican American Studies

Study Sessions/Tutoring/Mentoring – The department doesn't offer any formal tutoring, mentoring, or study sessions. However, because the MAS major is not very large, students can create and cultivate close relationships with MAS faculty members and seek assistance when needed, Clubs – Students can connect with the Amigxs de MAS, including the Adalberto & Ana Guerrero Center and the Grupo Folklórico Miztontli. More information about our clubs or connections can be found here <https://mas.arizona.edu/amigxs-de-mas>.

Middle Eastern and North African Studies

Due to the size of this department, there are no major specific resources offered. However, you are encouraged to reach out to your professor or advisor so they can help your particular situation.

Philosophy

Due to the size of this department, there are no major specific resources offered. However, you are encouraged to reach out to your professor or advisor so they can help your particular situation.

Philosophy, Politics, Economics and Law

Due to the size of this department, there are no major specific resources offered. However, you are encouraged to reach out to your professor or advisor so they can help your particular situation.

School of Sociology

Tutoring- Tutoring is available for SOC374 and SOC375 (Research Methods and SOC Stats). Reach out to Lauren Jacobson (laurenjacobson@arizona.edu) for information regarding tutoring hours.

Sociology/CHS Club- "The Club offers a variety of opportunities to participate in the affairs of the School, to meet other majors, and to influence the quality of one's own education," according to their website (<https://sociology.arizona.edu/student-organizations>). Email soc.chs@gmail.com for more information.

School of Sociology

Alpha Kappa Delta Honorary Society- An Honorary Society "dedicated to the promotion of the study of sociology, research on social problems, and other social and intellectual activities that lead to improvement in the human condition," according to their website, <https://sociology.arizona.edu/student-organizations>. Visit their website for more information.

Poverty in Tucson Project- According to their website, "the School of Sociology is working with the city of Tucson and local non-profit groups to study how poverty affects our community and to identify ways to help struggling families." Go to <https://sociology.arizona.edu/poverty-tucson-project> to learn more.

Scholarships & Funding- Various scholarship and funding opportunities are available here: <https://sociology.arizona.edu/scholarships>.

